Fall 2013

USCT 33rd Regiment: Their Journey

Grant Strauss
Furman University

Recommended Citation
http://scholarexchange.furman.edu/ees-presentations/2

This Presentation (Class or campus) is made available online by Earth and Environmental Sciences, part of the Furman University Scholar Exchange (FUSE). It has been accepted for inclusion in Earth and Environmental Sciences Presentations by an authorized FUSE administrator. For terms of use, please refer to the FUSE Institutional Repository Guidelines. For more information, please contact scholarexchange@furman.edu.
The study conducts an exploratory analysis of the troop patterns of the 33rd United States Colored Troops (USCT) during the Civil War. The following information was gathered from various sources:

- The 33rd USCT was composed of ex-slaves recruited in the southeastern United States.
- The regiment consisted of 10 companies, each with about 80 men.
- The majority of recruits were laborers and field hands, with a few being drummers and one as a drummer.
- The regiment was organized under the command of Col. Joseph Hunter and was stationed at Port Royal.
- The regiment was involved in various battles, including those at Port Royal, Charleston, Camden, Edisto Island, and Beaufort.
- The regiment wasMust this project become a reality.

Acknowledgments

Special thanks to Mike B and Dr. Lewis Brown for their guidance and support.

References